Road Building in Missouri

Map Showing Where Road Bonds Won and Lost.

Without the $60,000,000 Road Bond Amendment No. 6 Missouri's Road System Will Be Poorly Connected for Next Generation.

The above map tells the whole story of the activities of the people of Missouri by counties in the matter of building 365-day roads. The map shows very clearly that while about 50 counties have voted county or district road bonds and are planning to build hard roads, there are 23 counties where the people have voted against good roads, and in the remaining counties the people have not been sufficiently interested to even submit a road bond issue.

If Good Roads Amendment No. 6 is adopted and the State and Federal Government build a complete system of 6,000 miles of State roads connecting every county seat town in the state it will give Missouri a comprehensive system of hard roads which will go a long way toward "Lifting Missouri out of the mud." And the nice thing about the proposition is that there will be no additional taxes. The auto fees, at the present rates, will meet the cost of the roads, interest and principal.

Vote for Amendment No. 6 and let the auto owners pay for the roads. They want to do it. Why not let them?

Missouri's Present Hard Road System

Look at the Dis-connected Sections of Improved Highways.

Unless the Bond Amendment No. 6 is Adopted on Nov. 2 the Above Map Will Represent the System of 365-Day Roads for Many Years to Come.

The people of Missouri have been building good roads and voting bonds and applying Federal Aid during the past three years to such an extent that many people might believe from all this publicity that we were soon to have a wonderful system of hard-surfaced highways. The facts are the above map represents the roads on which Federal Aid has been allowed and when these roads are built, unless more Federal Aid is available or the $60,000,000 road bond amendment passes, they will be about all of the real good roads that Missouri will have for many years.

What stronger argument could be offered in support of Amendment No. 6 which will connect all of these links into a complete system and at the same time reimburse any county or subdivision for what they have expended on these sections of the state road passes, they will be about all of the

The greatest danger to the Good Roads Amendment is over-confidence by some and lack of information by others. If it fails it will not be due to opposition, but lack of interest by its friends, who would be for it if they only awake to the real importance of the issue. The roads are badly needed; the motor license fees will pay the cost. What objection can be raised? No one of real merit. What then is the danger? Indifference and lack of information. Arouse, then, friends of Old Missouri, and help to "Lift her out of the mud" by your vote November 2.
